Well it's All Over Now

I would like to thank everyone who helped to make Sunday's event become a reality, for without your help the event would not have taken place.

On Friday evening I received one of those phone calls that begin did you know, very rarely are those two words a portend of good news and so was the case in this instance. The did I know bit, was to do with the traffic lights situated at Marches Road and the junction of the A29..... in short, no.

An internet search to find out more about the finish date was inconclusive so in the company of the Southern Counties Secretary a visit was made Saturday morning to the site in question. By good fortune I was able to speak with the contractors on site who assured me that they would be finished within the hour and the lights would be gone " permit expires today mate". Optimist hat on, relief, pessimist hat on, what if they are not.

Wait and see, and possibly have to abandon the event on the morning and face the disappointment of competitors or have a reserve course so at least there would be an event.

Having toured the countryside and burnt prodigious amounts of hydrocarbons we did come up with a workable solution, OK I admit it was a bit of a trek from the finish (on your way back you did get to see the forlorn work site) . Course distance, my measure 25.26 miles independent report 25.16 miles

By necessity the time frame for change in a SCCU event is lengthy so to make sure we would be able to manage a change a second visit to the site was made late afternoon to check the situation out, sadly no change. From then on it was a bit of a mad dash and burning of the proverbial midnight oil to reconfigure the marshalling requirements and course details. To every ones credit there was no fuss or bother THANK YOU.

RACE DAY

While scraping the ice from the car windscreen and an air temperature of 0deg C it did occur to me that the road conditions may prove to be unsafe for the event to take place or perhaps no one would turn up. To my relief the road conditions on the course were OK and the temperature had risen to a summery 1 deg C. At the HQ my fears of no one turning up were proved to be groundless.

To every rider that took part You deserve a medal..... what's inscribed on it would be down to your sense of achievement.

The marshals at least could pile on the layers. I have it on good authority that by the time the event finished the temperature had made the dizzy high of 2deg C.

MY SINCERE THANKS TO EVERYONE WHO ROSE TO THE CHALLENGE

At the beginning of the season all member clubs were advised that the Southern Counties would be providing three trophies to be awarded to a lady/ladies recording the fastest time at 10 miles 25 miles and 50 miles. To qualify the rider must belong to an affiliated club and the ride must be completed in a SCCU nominated event.

To date at 10 miles
